I am a passionate product and UX/UI designer, driven by creative creation – from concept development to crafting graphic universes, mobile app interfaces, websites, and large-scale projects. Success and innovative problem-solving fuel my work. My experience on gohenry's core team strengthened my design research skills and user interview abilities. Working with different clients during my career has led me to work in various environments, including Lean, Agile, and Scrum. I am enthusiastic about leading workshops and excited to tackle new projects, challenges, and goals. Let me know if you are interested and let's start!
